The Bluegrass Dyslexia Center

MAIN ANNOUNCEMENT

We are announcing the start of a fund raising initiative to establish the Bluegrass Dyslexia Center. Our mission is stated at www.bluegrassdyslexiacenter.com. Local on the ground resources have long been needed. We do not yet have bricks and mortar, but we do have local people to talk to, multisensory tutoring in the 1*2*1 After School Tutoring Program, and scholarships available to increase the number of highly specialized Orton-Gillingham tutors and educational psychology testers in our geographic area who are interested in learning more about reading differences. Local training is also being planned for the future.

Dates to know: Training by IDEA, Center for Excellence, in order to prepare for the parent based 1*2*1 Tutoring after school program this Fall-- is August 29 for advance and new tutors and Aug 30, 2015 for new tutors, Northside Library, Lexington, KY

Summer Reading and Lexile to Grade Correspondence

If you have your child's Lexile Reading Score you can pick out books with the appropriate reading level. Go to:

<https://lexile.com/about-lexile/grade-equivalent/grade-equivalent-chart>

Which is The Lexile ® Framework for Reading website? If you don't have it, ask for one from your child's teacher as soon as you can.

Legal Resource

A local legal resource who may be able to guide you and represent you through the maze of education law is The Children's Law Center,
Lexington Office: 1555 Georgetown Road, Lexington, KY 40511 (859)431-3313, the Covington Office, or call toll free 866-386-8313. Either way, ask to be connected with the Lexington Office.

Contribute to the International Dyslexia Association through Payroll Deduction:

Did you know you can contribute to the IDA painlessly through your payroll office? Contact your human resources department or payroll department and use the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) code number: 33185.

Meet Our Friend Michael Kaczor

If you do not know our friend, Michael Kaczor from New Mexico, you should. He came to help us with dyslexia law in Kentucky and has made great strides in several counties in western Kentucky. They now have 11 Orton - Gillingham trained teachers, and have been made aware that dyslexia is real, and is in State, Federal, and KDE Administrative Law. His contact information is:
